Jon Rissik appointed Chief Growth Officer

everplay group plc is delighted to share that Jon Rissik has joined everplay as Chief Growth Officer on 1 July 2026.

Jon brings more than 25 years' experience across media, publishing and games, and has held senior leadership roles at Electronic Arts and Codemasters. Most recently, Jon served as CEO of Dovetail Games, where he led this business as it grew from around 30 employees into one of the industry's leading simulation game publishers. Throughout his career, Jon has worked for globally recognised franchises including The Sims, Harry Potter, Medal of Honor, Burnout, Mirror's Edge and Formula 1, and has a strong reputation for driving growth, innovation and community-focused entertainment experiences.

As Chief Growth Officer, Jon will work across the Group to help identify new opportunities, support the businesses as they continue to grow, and strengthen the capabilities that make Team17, StoryToys and astragon successful.

Mikkel Weider, Group CEO commented:

"Jon is a true star in the industry. He brings an enormous wealth of talent and experience to the Group. I have truly enjoyed working together on various everplay projects in recent months, and I am very happy that we are stepping up the collaboration on a permanent basis as he joins the Group officially as our Chief Growth Officer."
